Program Statement of Purpose

The Taiwan Intensive Summer Language Program in Taipei, Taiwan will provide eight weeks of intensive Chinese language instruction. The program will take place at Tamkang University (TKU). The curriculum will focus on intensive speaking, listening, reading, and writing practice through 20 class hours of Chinese instruction per week. Students will also participate in a language agreement and strengthen their language skills with locals through activities and excursions designed to reinforce their understanding of Chinese culture and language. The eight-week intensive summer program is equivalent to two semesters of study in the US.

Curriculum Overview

The Chinese Language Center (CLC) at TKU provides a highly demanding, total immersion academic program to Taiwan Intensive Summer Language Program participants. Classes are held five days per week; from Monday to Thursday, participants attend four sessions per day comprised of three lecture or drilling classes and one situational conversation or discussion class. On Fridays, participants attend three sessions comprised of two lecture or drilling classes and one situational conversation or discussion class. Cultural workshops and excursions are held periodically during the program. Participants also receive one hour of personalized instruction each week. Students are required to actively participate in all classes, cultural enrichments, excursions, and ceremonies. Student evaluation will cover attendance and participation, quizzes and tests, midterm and final, oral presentations, and homework.

Policies

Attendance and Participation

Students who miss classes or excursions without a valid medical excuse or other approved reason will be subject to verbal and written warnings and the possibility of lowered grades. Students are required to actively participate in all classes, cultural enrichments, excursions, and ceremonies.

Preparation and Self-Study

This program is highly demanding, and students should expect to spend four to five hours on class preparation and self-study daily. This preparation should include both written and audio texts, as well as vocabulary and sentence patterns.

Completion of Homework

Students are assigned homework in each class and are expected to complete it by the date indicated by their teacher. Instructors factor student work into planning for future classes; timely completion of all assigned homework allows teachers to more accurately gauge student progress and effectively utilize class time. Homework is graded and will factor into students' overall course grades.

Daily Quizzes, Weekly Tests, Midterm & Final Exams

Program Chinese instructors at the Chinese Language Center at Tamkang University will administer all quizzes, tests, and exams. Quizzes focus on new daily materials introduced in class and are held during lecture and drill classes. Weekly tests mainly review what students have learned during the week. The 2-hour long midterm and final written exams are to help students review what they have learned during the preceding four weeks. A final oral exam is held in the last week of the program.

Oral Presentation

Students will give two formal oral presentations over the course of the program. Students are required to organize three to five minutes of content and orally present it to their peers in class. All presentations should be reviewed for grammatical errors in collaboration with one-on-one class instructors.

Chinese Language Agreement

Students are required to sign a language agreement and are expected to speak Chinese both to classmates and to teachers throughout the duration of the program. This language agreement requires students to speak only Chinese in the following settings:

- In all program classes
- On the grounds of the program institute (including in hallways and cafeterias)
- On group excursions and trips
- With other program students
- With their host families/roommates
- With their language partners
- When speaking with local staff, officials, and teachers

Course Descriptions

CNSE 307: Advanced Chinese Speaking and Listening II
(1.0 units of Bryn Mawr College academic credit — 4 undergraduate credit hours)

CNSE 577: Advanced Chinese Speaking and Listening II
(1.0 units of Bryn Mawr College academic credit — 5 graduate credit hours)

The course is designed to further develop proficiency in speaking and listening through the completion of various conversational tasks, including presenting, discussing, and debating. Through a project-based teaching mechanism, students will be assigned a topic related to sustainable development, perform research, and present and debate different points of view in class. Students will engage in conversation in an optimistic participatory manner in order to communicate information on the topic as well as topics related to societal affairs and public interest, such as political aspects of the East Asia region. Oral skills will be further enhanced through a weekly one-on-one session with their language partners. Students will apply their language skills to obtain different points of view and respond to the discussion topics.

CNSE 308: Advanced Chinese Grammar, Reading, and Writing II
(1.0 units of Bryn Mawr College academic credit — 4 undergraduate credit hours)

CNSE 578: Advanced Chinese Grammar, Reading, and Writing II
(1.0 units of Bryn Mawr College academic credit — 5 graduate credit hours)

Students are required to have learned Chinese for at least 1300 hours and have memorized approximately 3500 vocabulary words before taking the Advanced II course. The course is designed to further enhance Chinese proficiency through reading authentic current materials. The objectives of the course are to develop specialized vocabulary in different fields, to further improve reading speed, to translate texts with sophistication, and to interpret linguistic features of different writing styles. The class will meet five times every week. Students are expected to preview material before class and will apply new vocabulary and grammar patterns during class via repetitive practices in reading and writing. Students are expected to learn 800 vocabulary and 50 new grammar patterns by the end of the course.
